Proposed Items for Agenda of Executive

Attached are a couple of suggestions you may want to consider sending to the DDA as Executive Committee agenda candidates. One is on the Community Security Budget, the other is a mixed bag.

MEMORANDUM FOR: DDA
FROM: Director of Security
SUBJECT: Proposed Agenda Items for Executive Committee

1. As you recall, we discussed some months ago the advisability of establishing the Office of Security as the Executive Agent for a Community Security Budget. You advised that we should wait for preparation of the 1982 budget. My paper on that issue is attached at Tab A in several copies. I think that there would be ramifications for the DDA and DDS&T, and to a lesser extent, for the DDO and NFAC in such a proposal, and there might be interest in presenting this proposal to the Executive Committee.

2. There are some other issues that may be lumped under the general term of Community Security that may be amalgamated into a second agenda item. I am thinking here of the fact that some community security matters now either in the dynamic planning stage or clearly visible on the short term horizon will have impact on the way the Agency does business. Among these issues are the APEX System (security facets only), changing personnel security/suitability standards, the growing interest in the intelligence community, in the polygraph, increasing pressure for the CIA to provide the community with services of common concern with impact on our personnel and financial resources, the security aspects of the EOD process in relation to detailees and assignees cleared under different standards and some long range security projections. If you can find anything of Executive Committee interest in this listing, we will be pleased to work up a presentation.
